STATE NEWS BRIEFLY TOLD

The Latest Gleanings From All Over the State

THINGS SEEN AND HEARD

Harrisonburg.—W. G. Myers, city engineer and commander of Rockingham Post of the American Legion, was elected worshipful master of Rockingham Union Lodge of Masons. He succeeds W. W. Menefee, and will be installed December 27.

Richmond.—This week has been declared Harding Memorial Week by Governor E. Lee Trinkle, who called on all civic, religious, business, patriotic, social and fraternal societies to make proper observance of the week-end and to contribute to the memorial fund which is being raised all over the country.

Lynchburg.—Three Lynchburg banks, which have maintained Christmas club savings during the past year, will mail checks this week for $245,000 to depositors. It is estimated that about $55,000 will go back into the banks on savings accounts and that the remainder will go into the Christmas trade here.

South Boston.—It was learned from authentic sources that Berryman Green, formerly Danville's representative in the State House of Delegates, will be appointed assistant auto license clerk in the office of James M. Hayes, Assistant Secretary to the Common wealth, within the next few days. Mr. Green is now living in South Boston, having removed from Danville some years ago.

Lynchburg.—Judge F. W. Whitaker, in the Municipal Court here, has held that the State law prohibits service stations from giving automobilists purchasing gas a free chance for each purpose at a wheel of chance, with a view to winning free gasoline if the machine stops at a certain number. Judge Whitaker takes the position that such a contrivance is prohibited by the Virginia laws.

Lexington.—Fire of unknown origin which started on the fourth floor of Lee dormitory on the Washington and Lee campus here caused $25,000 damage to the building and seriously damaged belongings and furnishings of students occupying rooms in the dormitory before it was placed under control by a corps of student volunteer firemen and members of the Lexington fire department, nearly an hour after the first alarm.

Harrisonburg.—For the thirty-fourth consecutive year, Chief W. A. Braithwaite was re-elected president of Hose Company No. 4, Rawlsonburg's volunteer firemen's association. Speakers paid tribute to the veteran as the oldest active fire chief, in point of service, in the United States. Plans were discussed at the meeting for entertaining the annual convention of the Virginia Firemen's Association here next August.

Lynchburg.—Discovery of an old Bible which is apparently in the neighborhood of 100 years old was made at the police station when cleaning out some old cabinets preparatory to moving to the new location on Church street. The Bible was covered with fully fifty thicknesses of paper, added from time to time to protect the back. It had evidently been used as a court Bible and is brown with age, although the type is readable, though small.

Presting.—Intelligence just received from Clintwood is, in effect, that Tilden Fleming, Jr., was shot and instantly killed by Policeman Smith, who had been on duty there for some months. According to advices received there, Hearst Fleming, a brother to the other, was being placed in jail by Smith upon some charge, when the unfortunate man appeared upon the scene. An altercation ensued between him and the officer, when he was shot four times.

Danville.—Judge William R. Barksdale, presiding at Halifax Circuit Court, where a number of cases involving construction of the Virginia tobacco marketing law have been before him during the past few weeks, has made an important ruling, to the effect that inspectors for the Co-Operative Marketing Association have the right to enter the floors of the auction warehouses to examine tickets on piles of tobacco at any time during regular business hours. This opinion is in direct conflict with one rendered recently by Judge Price Withers in the local Corporation Court.

Fredericksburg.—A ten-pound red fox was captured on Saturday by the Falmouth Kennel Club, after a chase of several hours. The fox was started Saturday morning near Holly Corner; about twelve miles above Falmouth, in Stafford county, and after a two-hour run in that vicinity, the fox followed the Rappahannock River down to Falmouth. With the pack in hot pursuit, the fox ran through the town of Falmouth as horses were quickly saddled and numerous huntsmen took up the chase. Many witnessed the killing near the dam.

Danville.—W. A. Gilbert, sales manager for an oil company in Martinsville, died in a hospital there from internal injuries, sustained when an oil truck overturned on him on a country road while he was making deliveries. Gilbert lay for an hour with the truck on him, when a passing motorist called aid and freed him.

Strasburg.—The citizens of Strasburg and vicinity were aroused Sunday morning by the alarm of fire, the second within the week. The fire destroyed the barn belonging to M. S. Funkhouser, of Strasburg, on what is known as the Glaize property, about a mile and a half from Strasburg Junction.

Harrisonburg.—A. S. White, owner of a farm near here on the Valley Turnpike, and a meat store in Washington, plans to make an interesting experiment. He has converted his farm into one huge poultry and egg farm, and plans to make a range for 5,000 chickens. As these fowls are fattened they will be shipped to Washington and sold through Mr. White's meat store.

Farmville.—Quite a commotion was caused at the passenger station of the Norfolk and Western when a fine deer ran down Appomattox street by the waiting crowd and when last seen was "making knots" toward the Appomattox River. He was a fine looking fellow with long antlers and sure could make some speed. Though he had beautiful horns, he did not even stop to blow for the railroad crossing, thereby breaking the Virginia Railroad stop law.

University.—Dr. Ernest Linwood Lehman, assistant professor of Romance languages, in the University of Virginia, is editor of an attractive edition of the one-act comedy, "Un Jeune Homme Presse," by Lablah, which has just come from the press of Henry Holt and Company. The story treats in a sprightly fashion the troubles of a young man in a hurry to get married and is interesting reading material for students. The introduction by Dr. Lehman is short and to the point and his notes and vocabulary are accurate and complete.

Winchester.—Robert Y. Conrad Post, No. 21, of the American Legion, is undertaking to raise a fund of approximately $10,000 for the purpose of paying off the first mortgage on the Memorial Legion building in this city. The meeting at which the proposal was made was attended by a large number of legionnaires, and these present promised their hearty support of the proposition. It is planned to issue bonds in the amount of $100 each, and sell these among local members of the legion, in order to raise the money necessary to pay off the first mortgage on the home of the post.

Harrisonburg.—Aroused by patriotism and a firm desire to see the etiquette of the Stars and Stripes observed, Dr. A. W. Graves, Lacey Spring physician and veteran of the World War, assaulted Lester House, veteran of the Spanish-American War and employee of the Rockless Garment, when the latter refused to haul down an American flag. It was brought out at a hearing of the charge preferred by the victim here. Dr. Graves was found guilty of assault and fined $50 and costs by Magistrate Argenbright, but an appeal was noted for the Circuit Court.

Presting.—The little four-year-old son of Otha Branham, of the town of Presting, while at his grandfather's, Peter Whitaker's, fell feet downward into a well sixteen feet deep, with a twelve-inch tiling. The alarm was raised, and Mrs. Whitaker, a large-headed woman, quickly let a rope down to the boy, telling him to hold to the end. She drew him almost to the top, when his hold slipped, and he fell back. She let the rope down again, but he was too far gone to take hold of it. Seeing that the case was a hopeless one with the rope, she found a hook, which she tied to the end of the rope and managed to get hooked into his clothing, when she drew him up. He was apparently drowned, but the woman soon resuscitated him, and thanks to his grandmother, to use a common expression, he is "all right" again.

Harrisonburg.—I. D. Sites returned here from Lexington, Ky., where on last Saturday he attended an invitation to the several hundred United Commercial Travelers attending the rally of Blue Grass Council there to come to Harrisonburg next June 13 and 14 for the annual meeting of the grand council of the order. Mr. Sites was sent by Shenandoah Council, of this city, to extend a personal invitation. The States of Virginia, West Virginia, Maryland and Kentucky and the District of Columbia comprise the jurisdiction of the U. C. T., which will meet here next year. Between 800 and 900 traveling salesmen from this territory are expected to attend the convention, which will be the largest ever entertained here.

Harrisonburg.—Eighteen hundred silver leaf maples have been planted on both sides of the Valley Turnpike, and in two big circles on the hills of "Court Manor," the breeding farm 12 miles from here, operated by Willis Sharpe Kilmer, noted race horse man, and owner of Exterminator, Sally's Alley, Sunbrize and other famous horses. Mr. Kilmer also has erected seven large barns on the place, and will add two more in the spring. He has expended nearly $100,000 after leasing the farm.

Monument to Fabre.

A committee headed by General de Castelnau, and including leading educators and officials of the French department of Aveyron, is arranging for the erection of a statue to Jean Henri Fabre, who wrote books about insects that were more interesting than romance. The monument, now being executed by the sculptor Malet, will be placed on the central square of Saint-Leons, the village where Fabre spent his childhood. The committee considered this peaceful spot the most appropriate for a statue of the "noblest and purest son of Aveyron."

Dance of a Question.

A master is a large schooner called upon Smith, who stutters, to paint the names.

"The propriquity of the porcupine needs not-stating at the hippopotamus virtually impossible."

Smith gave a wild glance around the room and said: "P-p-p-perfectly now s'art t-t-t-that a dance of a question to ask me?"

STATE CAPITAL

For New School Tax Levy.

Richmond.—

Feeling that a contest of at least two years' duration will be necessary to secure more funds for education by means of a tax equalization law, the State Department of Education will concentrate its efforts in the next General Assembly on an attempt to secure an increase in school tax levies, Harris Hart, State Superintendent of Education, announced.

Such a measure, which is expected to have the backing of the school committees in both houses of the Assembly, calls for an increase in school taxation from 14 to 25 cents per $100 of property valuation. If enacted into law this would make the segregated tax as follows: Twenty-five cents for schools, 10 cents for roads and one cent for tuberculosis, a total of 36 cents, instead of 14 for schools, 10 for roads and 1 for tuberculosis, a total of 25 cents, as at present.

The Virginia school problem is much greater than in the Western States or the Industrial States of the Northeast, Mr. Hart pointed out, because Virginia is committed to the policy of maintaining separate schools for white and negro children, and has a population numbers only 1,900 gainfully employed male adults to every 1,196 school children.

Mr. Hart estimated that an increase of the school tax to 25 cents would increase the school fund from $5,000,000 to $7,000,000 annually, and would take care of the more imperative needs of the school until war relief could be effected.

Replying to the charge that some high schools and junior high schools were being established in section where the school population does not warrant the expense of maintenance Mr. Hart asserted that the Department of Education will not recognize any school with less than fifty students in the high school department. For the present year the number is thirty-five. Neither, said Mr. Hart is any high school recognized where the county does not enforce the minimum school term for elementary grades, thus assuring full preparation for high school students.

Increase in the capitation tax from $1.50 to $2 to furnish additional funds for schools may be enforced by the Boards of Supervisors of individual counties, Mr. Hart said, adding that payment could easily be enforced by cutting any citizens off from school privileges, as well as the ballot, if they failed to pay the tax.

"To sum the matter up," said Mr. Hart, "there is wealth enough in the State to support the school system adequately, if it is properly appraised

To Control Legislative Effort.

The Virginia Women's Council of Legislative Chairmen of State Organizations was formally organized at a meeting of representatives of about twenty organizations in which women are interested, held in the Capitol Building. The rules for the organization, which is to act as a clearing house for legislative matters in which women are interested, were formulated, officers elected, and the legislative program of each organization discussed.

The object of the council is to prevent the overlapping of legislative effort by the various State organizations; to enable organizations favoring the same legislation to unite their efforts to obtain its passage." The function of the council, shall be to promote, through subcommittees, the passage of legislation already indorsed by State organizations and to hear argument for the proposed legislation.

State Press Association Meets Jan. 25.

The executive committee of the Virginia Press Association, in session Monday afternoon at Murphy's Hotel decided to hold the mid-winter meeting of the association in Richmond, on Friday and Saturday, January 25 and 26. A tentative program was arranged and efforts will be made to have national advertising agency men deliver addresses.

Attending the meeting were President Paul Scarborough, of Franklin; E. E. Pugh, of Newport News; A. J. Rowe, of Fredericksburg; E. E. Rouse, of Strasburg, and R. C. Beasley, of South Boston.

CRIME WAVE AMONG MOROS

Four Outlaws Slain by Philippine Constabulary Recently.

Manila.—Further advices from Lanao Province, where several Datos recently raised the red flag, Moro symbol of unrest, and where four Moro outlaws were slain early this year in an encounter, with constabulary, suggest that a wave of robberies is under way there. Word of the robberies reached constabulary headquarters in a report from Provincial Governor Tenlo.

The Five Kings of France.

The "Five Kings of France" was a term applied to the body of five men constituting the French directory. To them was entrusted the executive government of France from October 26, 1795, to November 9, 1799. They were frequently styled "Their Five Majesties of the Luxembourg." The directory was overthrown by Napoleon Bonaparte on the 18 Brumaire (November 9, 1799), and the consulate established in its stead.

The painter has been "made the goat" long enough

IT is about time that property owners realized that the painter isn't to blame when a cheap painting job does not last. It isn't from choice that the painter uses cheap paint and varnish. But he has to use them if the owner insists on looking for price instead of quality.

Let the painter figure on good paint and varnish. They cost a little more by the gallon but very little more by the job. Labor is the big item and that's the same with a cheap paint as with good paint.

Good, honest paint and varnish like BREINIG BROTHERS' is an economy—whether they are for a porch chair or for your entire house. They are made to give lasting protection.

"Strong and Well"

"I WISH you could know how much I am improved since taking the Cardui," writes Mrs. Nannie Brown, of Black Rock, Ark. "You wouldn't know me for the same week invalid I was before I took it. At my . . . I had to keep off my feet or I would fall. I couldn't do my housework, and just got where I'd most as lief be dead as living. Some one told my husband of Cardui. He got it for me and I took three bottles before I stopped—then off and on for the last three years just as a tonic. I saw a decided improvement after my first bottle. I used the three, and was able to do my work with ease, and now I sew for my family and for others. I am feeling fine, and strong and well."

Take Cardui! It may be just the medicine you need.

A Dove

(Cephas Shelburn Buck)

I saw a dove with pearly wing
Fly from the Orient sky;
It was so fair I thought the thing
Could never, never die!

It perched upon a lofty tower
With sunlight all aglow;
Its wings were varied as a flower,
Its breast was white as snow!

The summer breezes wafted odors
From honeysuckle, rose and vine;
And sang among the leafy bowers
A song that was divine!

It flew athwart the genial air
Into the sunny dome,
So very high I thought the dear
Would never come back home!

Then down a lurid West it flew,
As if a meteor fell;
And, disappearing in the blue,
I bade the dove farewell.

VERA

Who says Vera is not on the map? Sixteen years ago there was not a bicycle, motorcycle, automobile, gasoline engine, tractor or truck in the neighborhood and no modern machinery of any kind; now we have all those things, and the farm that is not equipped with one or more pieces of modern machinery is considered a "back number" and now we wonder who will get the first aeroplane? We have a "flyer" in our midst so come on with your "flying machine"!

Vera also has a bright prospect of having an improved highway from Appomattox to Buckingham court house, which will enhance the value of property, in this vicinity, a great deal.

This is the time of the year when farmers and their families are revelling in the real delights of life which cost city people a small fortune, such as spare-ribs, chine, sausage and "chitlins", steering wood first, and, for dessert ice cream.

Dr. Christian has installed a radio in his home and is not dependent upon opera or movies for the entertainment of himself and family.

Thornton Carter's family is having a siege of whooping cough

George Bibb has a very sick child, the little one has pneumonia in both lungs.

Sam Megginson also has a sick child.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Walker O'Brien on the 8th, a son, mother and son were both doing well at last report.

Messrs. Leighton and Lawrence Hatcher returned Saturday from Bedford, where they attended the funeral of their father, Overton Lewis Hatcher. These young men have the sympathy of the community in their sad bereavement—The occasion was of an unusually sad nature as the old gentleman had started to spend the Xmas holidays with his son, here and got as far as Lynchburg, where he was taken sick. He was taken to the hospital where all was done that skill and love could do; but to no avail; he passed away Friday and was taken back to his home in Bedford to sleep his last sleep and await the summons of his Master on the ressurrection morn when "all that sleep in their graves will be brought forth". What a comfort to "those who believe" that our loved ones will soon return to us "For the first shall be last and the last first". St. Paul says: "For ye brothern are not in darkness that that day shall overtake you as a thief in the night". The Master says in Matt. 16:2-3 that we could tell of his coming, as we tell the weather, by its plain signs.

Mrs. H. B. Foster and little daughter, Sarah Marguerite, left for their home in Littletown, N. C., Monday.

R. A. Steffans, who has a saw mill at Sheppards, spent Sunday with his family here. Anyone who wants work would do well to communicate with Mr. Steffans, as he is short of hands.

SPOUT SPRING

By means of entertainments and donations a new piano has been placed in Old Concord church.

We were pleased very much to have a play at S. S. H. S. Saturday January 12th given by the mothers of the Woodland Community. Also of the Missionary Society of Reedy Spring Baptist church.

Miss Louise Shirley is out of school, for the present writing, on account of her ill health.

Everyone in our community has a cold. Heres hoping that the colds will pass off as quickly as they came on.

Our principal, Miss Elizabeth Duling is back to school again after a short absence, on account of bad health. We were all glad to see her come back, too.

Miss Bessie Martin is spending a few days with her sister, Mrs. B. C. Sims, near Evergreen.

Misses Evie Ford and Mary Douglass Marshall visited Mrs. J. A. Marron last week.

There was a great rush with the farming in Brookneal last week to receive their third payment on the cured tobacco.

Mr. Loyd Nash is working in Lynchburg.

Miss Odelle Puckett, who is working in Lynchburg spent a few days that week with her parents.

We understand Mr. Leslie Morris has pneumonia. We hope he will soon be out again.

FAMILIES OF WORKERS WANTED AT HOPEWELL

Large Plant Employs All Members of Family.

HOPEWELL, Va.—A large number of families are wanted by one of the South's fast growing here to work in the plant of the Tubize Company, and the city now takes on a busy appearance, which is very pleasing to the eye.

Young women and men who have been thrown out of employment by the closing down of plants in other sections, have found employment here. Also many young girls are bringing their families to Hopewell.

The Tubize plant makes artificial silk from a cotton base, and a large number of boys, girls and women are employed in the various processes. The work is light and pleasant, and workers quickly become expert. Good wages are earned while learning and advancement is rapid.

The Tubize plant is one of the finest and most modern in the South. There is plenty of clean and sanitary conditions are of the best. Both plant and city have an especially high health record.

Hopewell has all modern conveniences. Houses and cottages may be had near the plant at cheap rentals and living costs are low.

The company will shortly add a number of positions for girls and boys, but entire families having several workers are especially needed.

Those interested should write at once to the Tubize Artificial Silk Co., Hopewell, Va., for full particulars. The number of those in the family wanting employment should be mentioned.—Adv.

I have moved into the store with Mr. A. T. Ingo in Chinatown. I have a nice line of army goods, hosiery, handkerchiefs, ties, etc. in gift boxes. Come in and look them over before buying.

THE UNIVERSAL CAR

Looking Ahead

LAST Spring a total of 350,000 people were disappointed in not being able to obtain deliveries of Ford Cars and Trucks, as orders were placed faster than cars could be produced.

The demand for Ford Cars and Trucks this Spring will, according to all indications, be far greater than last Spring.

Winter buying has been increasing at a greater rate than ever before.

Actual retail deliveries the past 60 days totaled 308,170 Ford Cars and Trucks, an increase of 1,961 a day over a year ago.

Over 200,000 people have already ordered Ford products on our purchase plan, the majority of whom will take delivery in the Spring.

The above facts are given with the suggestion that you list your order promptly with a Ford dealer if you contemplate the purchase of a Ford Car or Truck for use this Spring or Summer and wish to avoid delay in delivery

Ford Motor Company
